

Garbin Hangs In

On some days it's difficult to stay positive on the golf course. As amateurs, a bad hole, especially at the beginning of a round, can send us into a tailspin. Diana Garbin had a ten on the first hole. Not the start any golfer wants yet it happens. Professional golfers are good at putting bad shots behind them and following the adage that "the most important shot in golf is the next one." Diana did a good job during Captain's Trophy competition on July 1, of putting the bad hole behind her, staying positive and when all the scores were tabulated she won Captain's Trophy for July with a gross score of 95 for 69 net. Kudos for hanging in there Diana!

Doreen Lewallen won low gross in the first flight with an 87. Low net winners in that flight were Judy Wood first, Andi Davis second and Peggy Hubert third.

In the second flight Barb Pearce's 100 won low gross. Nancy Mitchell, Janet Barnes and Elaine Martin were first, second and third respectively in the low net competition.

Doreen Lewallen's 4'5" won closest to the pin. Peggy Hubert was 8'6" which was good enough for second place.

This was one of the largest fields of the year with 17 golfers. The weather for July was comfortable but looks to be changing by the middle of the month. Stay cool out there and positive. You might be the next winner.
